CLAIM 300 EACH FOR LEADERS

'Neck and Neck' Race for Democratic Presidential Nomination

By International News Service.

San Francisco, June 30.—Neck and neck, the three principal contenders for the Democratic nomination—Governor James M. Cox, Attorney-General A. Mitchell Palmer and William Gibbs McAdoo—were racing for first ballot honors today as the nomination speechmakers prepared for the oratorical fireworks.

Each of these three candidates will poll in the neighborhood of 300 votes in the early balloting according to an estimate based on figures obtained from the supporters of the candidates themselves and checked against data secured from the uninstructed delegations.

Palmer's supporters are claiming as high as 375 votes on the first ballot, but the more conservative element among them today declared they could rely on 329.

Governor Cox's rooters claimed 300 votes on the first roll call, though some Coxites admitted their expected to poll somewhat under 300 at the outset, but would climb.

McAdoo's support is hardest of all to weigh. It is scattered and unorganized, and estimates vary widely. One of the shrewdest politicians of the Southwest today claimed for McAdoo 358 votes on the first ballot as against 238 for Cox and 198 for Palmer.

One of McAdoo's staunchest supporters told the International News Service early today, however, following a conference of leaders, that he had a total of 276 votes on the initial ballot, with the former Secretary of the Treasury [illegible] than this number and Palmer.

McAdoo's support is strong in the Irish and [illegible] among the Irish and [illegible] platform [illegible] before the [illegible] platform [illegible] made by [illegible] tion [illegible] [illegible] over the high cost of beef and other meat. Mr. Hearst Urges That a Real democrat Head New Party Ticket

San Francisco, June 29.—I cannot support any third party which does not have at its head a real democrat, wholly opposed to the League of Nations. I consider defeating the League of Nations not only a patriotic duty, but the highest patriotic service that can be rendered our country.

I am, therefore, first of all and most of all, opposed to the Wilson party. The success of the Wilson party would be an unmeasurable calamity. The success of the Republican party would be less of a calamity.

We must make plans, therefore, to elect the candidates of the new party, if possible, but we must make sure that the Wilson party is defeated under any circumstances.

To do this we should have a man like Senator Reed at the head of the new party. He represents true Americanism in opposition to foreign alliances. He represents genuine democracy, inspiring independence, splendid courage, commanding ability, all the qualities which go to make a man and a leader of men.

Honest Democrats, more concerned for principle than for patronage, will follow Senator Reed. Sincere Americans of whatever party, who believe in the teachings of Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln and Roosevelt, will support Reed, because his course is guided by the words of these great Americans.

Reed will stand the best chance of success, and will insure the defeat of Wilson and his private party, since he will take from that autocratic Anglo-maniac all upstanding Americans and leave him nothing but the poor cringing crowd that go through their pitiful political paces at the crack of the party whip wielded by a vindictive but ever-failing hand.

LYNN MAN DISAPPEARS ON HIS WAY TO BOSTON

All efforts of the police of Lynn and Boston to locate Fanagust S. Paulson of No. 65 Adams street, Lynn, who disappeared from his home last Thursday morning, have thus far been fruitless. Mr. Paulson left home presumably to go to Boston. His wife fears that he has had a nervous breakdown, as he has been ill for the past two months and has complained of being continually tired.

He is an assistant superintendent of the Atlantic & Pacific stores at Lynn since last October when he moved from Dorchester.

Prisoner at Barnstable Knocks Keeper Unconscious; Hunted All Over Cape

Sandwich, June 30.—Manuel Brazil escaped from the County Jail at Barnstable today after hitting Clark Collins, the assistant keeper, over the head, knocking him insensible.

Brazil was awaiting the October term of the Grand Jury on the charge of breaking and entering several Summer residences on Cape Cod.

At 8:30 o'clock this morning, breakfast time, Brazil struck the assistant keeper and departed through the back door and into the woods across the railroad tracks.

BATTLES IN TWO CITIES

Troops Clash With Italian Anarchists; Many Killed and Wounded

By International News Service.

London, June 30.—Four hundred Italians have been killed in two days' fighting between Anarchists and troops at Ancona and Piombino, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Rome today quoting the newspaper Epoca.

Fierce battles, during which the soldiers employed artillery, raged in the streets of both cities.

The anarchists fought from behind powerful barricades. The troops bombarded these forts violently and then carried them by storm.

Dispatches from the Central News and Exchange Telegraph correspondents at Rome indicate widespread attempts of anarchists and radical Socialists to precipitate riots and mutinies throughout Italy to embarrass the government.

These disorders may result in the collapse of the Giolitti cabinet. It is announced at Rome, however, that the ministry will "maintain order at all costs."

Disorders are reported from Tolentino and Pesaro. The garrison at Ohiusi-chia has been disarmed.

The general strike in Rome has been called off.

CANADIAN CLUB TO HOLD OUTING AT NANTASKET

The Canadian Club of Boston will celebrate Dominion Day tomorrow at Nantasket with sports, dancing and a basket luncheon. The affair is in charge of the following committee: W. E. C. Goodell, chairman; Mrs. Charles E. Cowan, vice-chairman; Albert T. Cyon, H. Denton White and D. J. MacNichol.

DODGES DEATH IN FOUR-STORY FALL

Lawrence, June 30.—Alphonse Berube of Edgewood avenue, Methuen, a bricklayer, had a narrow escape from death when he fell from the top of the Merrimack Mill, four stories high, to a pile of bricks in the mill yard. He sustained a fractured left side and various bruises about the body.

TRAGEDY REVEALS ROMANCE

Huxley's Widow Amazed by Discovery of Miss Burke as 'The Other Woman'

"If I be I? Or if I be nine-tenths somebody else to one-tenth me?"

This quotation on the fly leaf of a red-covered novel, "The Other Woman," added to the mystery of the tragedy by which Frank E. Huxley and Miss Josephine E. Burke of Jamaica Plain lost their lives when struck by a train at a North Adams railroad crossing.

Woven in the story of "The other Woman" was the warp and woof of a romance which Josephine Burke, forty-three years old, enjoyed for years with a married man known as the "Big Brother" of her respectable family.

The bodies of the principals in this strange romance were brought from North Adams to Jamaica Plain today. Miss Burke's body will be cremated at Forest Hills. Huxley's funeral arrangements are not yet complete.

PRINCIPALS WERE NEIGHBORS.

Stories stranger than any pin received by exotic French novelists came out of the revelations today of the romance between 47-year-old Huxley, the staid and respectable business man, and the tall and statuesque Miss Burke.

Both families lived within a

Calvin Austin Towed to Port

The steamship Calvin Austin, bound from New York to Boston, lost one of her propeller blades today while passing through the Cape Cod canal, according to a wireless received at the Navy Yard.

She was thronged with passengers, who were in no way alarmed, but who were curious to learn why she was going so slowly. The steamship Delaware took the Calvin Austin in tow to this port. The company said the disabled steamship would not be able to make the return trip tonight owing to repairs. It is thought the propeller was weakened by the forces of last night's gale.

SINN FEIN WARN GEN. LUCAS

Prisoner Will Be Held Responsible if British Continue to Wreck Towns in Ireland

Cork, Ireland, June 30.—The Sinn Fein commandant has warned Brigadier-General C. H. T. Lucas, who is a prisoner in Sinn Fein hands, that unless the police and soldiers stop wrecking towns in South Ireland, Lucas will be held responsible and reprisals will be taken against him and any other British officers who are captured.

Sinn Fein officials declared that civilians must not be molested by the British police and military.

It is reported from Fermoy, Listmore and Hanley that many women and children are fleeing from those places, fearing violence from British soldiers.

MEXICANS RELEASE WALPOLE FLYER

Mexico City, June 30.—Lieutenant Stanley M. Jones of Walpole, Mass., commander of the 99th Aero Squadron of the United States Army at Kelley Field, San Antonio, who landed on Mexican soil near Matamoras on September 3, has been released by the Mexican military authorities at Matamoras, according to despatches from that city to the War Ministry today.

TAMMANY DEFEATED ON UNIT RULE CONTROL

San Francisco, June 30.—Tammany met defeat when the rules committee of the Democratic national convention by a vote of 29 to 21 decided that the unit rule shall not control the New York State delegation.

ADMITS SETTING 4 HOTEL FIRES

James Hobko, twenty-year-old deserter from the United States navy, confessed today to setting four of the five early morning fires in Boston hotels in the last week.

Hobko is the "James Harrison" arrested in his room in the Essex yesterday morning after the incendiary blaze on the fifth floor of that hotel.

He made his confession at police headquarters, admitting the Hollis, Brook, Brewster and American House fires, but denying the fire in the Adams House, with which he is also charged.

His only explanation of the wild impulse which drove him to imperil himself and hundreds of others and destroy thousands of dollars worth of property was that he was a victim of "spells."

The feeling said that after nightfall he became a slave to this impulse, his mentality became warped and he became possessed of an unnatural "fire lust."

"A buzzing in the head" always accompanied the impulse to burn, he said. After the fires were set his arm was found guilty.

THREATS AND SHOTGUN LEAD TO $50 FINE

Frank Cincotta of Somerville avenue, Somerville, was today fined $50 by Judge Wentworth for parading up and down Somerville avenue with a loaded shot gun over his shoulder and muttering in a foreign language what Patrolman Peter Moore interpreted as dire threats against youngsters who had been teasing him. While on "sentry tour," Patrolman Moore stole up behind Cincotta and disarmed him. Cincotta was accused of being an alien with a loaded firearm unlawfully in his possession and was found guilty.

bridge Colby, the District of Columbia committeeman. That the administration may yet agree to a Volstead act "modification" plank which denounces the saloon.

IN ALL NIGHT SESSION.

Members of the sub-committee of nine went into conference at 8 o'clock last night in the Palace Hotel, the beginning of an all-night session, out of which will come the tentative draft of the Democratic party platform. That will be an "administration draft."

On the League of Nations issue the conferees undertook to write a plank patterned after the Virginia plank, calling for "ratification without qualifying reservations," designed to "head off" the opposition from reservationists like W. J. Bryan and Democratic Senators who have cast "reservations vote."

While it is generally recognized that the administration strength on the committee is sufficient to "slide through" the platform substantially as the "faithful sub-committee of nine" writes it, there is the possibility of dissension and re-writing of the league plank. United States Senators have banded themselves together to that end.

On the Resolutions Committee there are ten members of the Senate and Vice-President Marshall, all of whom have at one time or another stood for some sort of reservations to the Treaty of and League covenant. They will stand for a modified declaration which does not read them out for the party.

"While we do not wish to do anything reflecting upon the President, we regard the party welfare and independent upon a party declaration which gives more consideration to our record on the League in the Senate deliberations," was the fashion in which one of them explained the situation.

PLANK TO PLEASE LABOR.

In an appeal from Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, the committee found the basis for what will be made the "headliner plank" of the platform, along with the Wilsonian League declaration. That is to be the "progressive labor and social welfare" plank.

The writing of that plank has been entrusted to Secretary of State Colby, the former Progressive, who came here with that special mission from President Wilson. By it they hope to attract all of the progressive and liberal elements so bitterly disappointed over the failure of Senator Hiram W. Johnson to get the Republican nomination at Chicago.

The Republican party's platform is so lacking in principles that organized labor must of necessity find expression in what it stands for in some other quarter," said Gompers. "If the Democratic party hopes for success in the coming election it must appeal to the people in clear articles and certain terms."

Betting Now Favors McAdoo, 9 to 5

New York, June 30—Wall Street betting odds against the nomination of William G. McAdoo for President by the Democrats were shortened.

The former Secretary of the treasury is now a strong favorite at 9 to 5. He was a 2 to 1 shot on Monday and was held at 2½ to 1 on Saturday. Governor Cox has receded from 2 to 1 to 3 to 1. He was the favorite on Saturday.

The demonstration for President Wilson on Monday caused the odds against him as a possibility to be shortened to 2½ to 1. They were 4 to 1 on Monday.

Bets that there would be a wet plank in the Democratic platform were made at even money. On Monday, the betting was 5 to 4 against the possibility of a wet plank.

Here are the Gompers principles around which will be written the "progressive labor and social welfare" plank of the Democratic party:

1—Co-operative government action to curb profiteers.

2—Monthly issuance of statement showing manufacturing cost of staple articles.

3—Government investigation of manufacturing and retailing prices to prevent profiteering.

4—Exclusion of immigrants during periods of excessive unemployment.

5—An eight-hour day work law for all workers.

6—More elaborate workmen's compensation act.

7—Ban upon interstate commerce in convict-manufactured articles.

8—Election of federal judges for six-year terms by popular vote.

9—Opposition to Mexican intervention "because of unjust American aim to seek to enhance their financial holdings there."

GERMAN SHIPPING HEAD HERE TO REVIVE TRADE

New York, June 30.—Philip Heinrich Heinrich, general of the old North German Lloyd line, who arrived here on the Ninjo Amsterdam from Rotterdam, discussed freely with newspapermen Great Britain's dream of sea supremacy and her fear of Germany as a shrewd and mighty rival for first place as a carrier of the world's commerce.

The German shipping director has come to the United States to treat with the United States Shipping Board and private steamship interests on a new start over the trade routes operated by the North German Lloyd at the outbreak of the war.

stone's throw of each other. Miss Burke's home, where Huxley was wont to be received as one of the family, was at No. 24 Green street, Jamaica Plain. It is shared with the wife at No. 289 Chestnut avenue, Jamaica Plain. His Summer home was at Sunset Point, Nantasket.

It was there today that Mrs. Huxley was found, stunned and amazed at the revelations following her husband's death.

Out in Jamaica Plain another domestic tragedy impended today when Mrs. Mary Richards Burke, the 83-year-old mother, was informed of her daughter's untimely end. She was reported to be bearing up wonderfully under the strain.

And startling like an obstacle that would not be put away was the register of the Boston Herald-Traveler filed with its signature of "Mr. and Mrs. Frank Huxley, Boston," written in a bold, male hand.

Unaware of the novel and its significant title, Miss Esther Woman, Edmund Burke, ex-Governor Foss' family undertaker, at the Jamaica Plain home today, told of his sister's preparation for her last ride on earth.

"My sister told me Sunday night she contemplated visiting her school-day friend, Mrs. Grace Briggs, at Northampton," said Mr. Burke today. "She asked me if I thought it would be all right to make an auto trip with my friend Huxley, who was going on a business trip through the western part of the State. Of course, I told her the trip would do her good.

"She left home Sunday morning before I was awake. That's the last I heard of her until Monday night, when the news of her death came from North Adams.

"This morning a post card from her reached me saying the auto was running fine and she was enjoying her trip. We expect her body home today."

IDENTIFIED BY CLOTHING.

Mrs. Briggs in a telephone conversation with Edmund Burke today said that his sister Josephine had not been there. The matter in Greenfield, according to the clerk of the Mansion House, was signed at 5 o'clock Monday night. He said a man and woman had occupied room No. 107.

Identification of both Hurley and Miss Burke was made from clothing they had worn, the bodies being unrecognizable.

Miss Burke was a tall, handsome woman who always dressed in excellent style, but simply, according to her friends. Huxley, they said, also was a man of dress, and their appearance together always attracted attention.

The news of the tragedy was not given to the aged mother of Miss Burke until a physician had been called and a stimulant administered.

The relations between Miss Burke and Mrs. Huxley [illegible] always appeared amicable, relatives said. Miss Burke frequently was taken to the Summer home at Nantasket by Huxley in his automobile.

MOTHER OF 3 ACCUSED OF UNFAITHFULNESS

Rutland, Vt., June 30.—Mrs. Rene Forkas was taken in custody charged with a statutory offence while she was preparing to appear in court to ask for temporary alimony. Mrs. Forkas is the mother of three children.

Lawrence, June 30—While on a visit to Chicago John H. Reynolds of this city met his uncle for the first time in fifty years. The relative, Thomas Guilfoile, a former Lawrence contractor, went west fifty-five years ago and is now in his eighty-fourth year. His granddaughter is secretary to a son of Senator Harding, the Republican presidential nominee.

THREE MORE GENERALS LOSE THEIR WAR RANK

Washington, June 30—General Peyton C. March, chief of staff, and Lieutenant-Generals Robert L. Bullard and Hunter Liggett have been discharged from temporary war ranks by the War Department. On July 1 they will be returned to the regular army with their permanent rank of major-generals.

mind would clear but he would be very weary and would return to bed. He declared that in all four Boston fires he was in bed when the alarm was given, had only a faint recollection of starting them, and would have been burned with the other guests if they had not been quickly extinguished.

Hobko made his confession in the presence of Captain Armstrong of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation, Chief Inspector McGarr, Sergeant Grace and Sergeant Anderson, the latter the officer who arrested him.

These officers immediately got in touch with authorities in New York, from which the pyromaniac said he came to this city on June 29. It was stated at Boston headquarters that a long list of fires of incendiary origin had occurred in New York recently, and that Hobko would be questioned concerning them.

Following further grilling at the hands of Superintendent of Police Michael H. Crowley, he was taken into Municipal Court to be arraigned on five counts charging arson.

HAS TWO BIRTHPLACES.

Hobko said he was born in Clifton, N. J., and Paterson, N. J., and that his mother at present lives in Clifton, N. J.

He said he "jumped" the battleship North Dakota seven months ago, and had since worked as a "bus boy" and in other menial capacities in New York, Boston and other cities.

The Hollis Hotel fire was Friday morning. A "James Harrison" was registered there.

The Brewster Hotel fire was Saturday morning, and the same mysterious "James Harrison's" name appeared on the books.

On Sunday the American House was fired. No "James Harrison" appeared on the register, but "James Marion" was carefully written on the book in "Harrison's" handwriting.

DOESN'T RECALL DETAILS.

In further admitting the fires today, Hobko declared that he did not remember the details. He said that the next day his memory of events of the night before was very unpleasant but vague, like a bad dream.

The pyromaniac could not say today whether he had set other hotel fires before coming to Boston. Neither could he say why he specialized in hotels, unless he thought that they would furnish the most spectacular conflagrations.

He said that he always started his fires in closets, and mostly with papers. If there was no paper in the closets he found in wandering about the halls at unusual hours, he tore up newspapers and used the strips as kindling.

The man who endangered hundreds of hotel patrons and destroyed much property is a tall stripling, good looking in a weak way, and rather boyish except for an unnatural light which comes into his eyes at times, and which was remarked during the grilling at headquarters.

SALOONKEEPER FACES GRILL ON ELWELL'S LIQUOR ACTIVITIES

KNOWS OF $12,700 CHECK

Mysterious Witness Said to Have Been "in" With Victim of Queer Murder

New York, June 30.—A suddenly-spurred inquiry into Joseph B. Elwell's alleged "bootlegging" activities, an inquiry aided by Federal prohibition enforcement agents; another lengthy examination of William E. Barnes, "confidential representative" of the slain whisky king, and a search for a possible murder motive growing out of the gambler's underwriting of an unsuccessful theatrical production, featured the nineteenth day of the official investigation of New York's most baffling crime enigma.

Although District-Attorney Swann asserted that "no positive progress" had been made, it was learned that a number of entirely new figures in the case will be questioned by Assistant District-Attorney Alfred J. Talley.

'TO QUIZ SALOON MAN.'

Chief among those will be a former New York saloon keeper who it is believed knows about the $12,700 "N G" check which the turfman turned over to a band of bootleggers for a large quantity of liquor.

The check was dated June 9, two days before the murder. Details of the transaction have been already narrated in the Boston American. The names of the saloon keeper and other associates of Elwell, who were "in" on the bootlegging schemes are known to the American.

After James J. Shevlin, federal prohibition agent, had shown an interest in this phase of the investigation, District Attorney Swann called in Barnes who remained more than two hours in the office of Mr. Talley. Barnes said:

"I have told Mr. Dooling, Judge Swann and Mr. Joyce all that I know about Mr. Elwell. I have told it over and over again, but I am willing to tell it once more."

DOUBTS LIQUOR STORY.

Barnes denied emphatically that he knew anything about the Elwell liquor deal. He said from his knowledge of Elwell he did not believe the story, adding:

"Mr. Elwell was too high class a man to specialize in liquor. He certainly wouldn't have told me anything about it, any way."

Barnes, it is understood, told Talley that there is no persons in this city who closely resembled him and that this person may have been taken for the "confidential agent." Barnes denied he had recently purchased any liquor for Elwell or anyone else.

"DOUBLE" TO BE CALLED.

The Barnes "double" as well as the former saloon keeper, will be questioned today. In the meantime Federal Agents James J. Mangin and William J. Lord were busily investigating the allegation that "bootlegging" had been going on between Elwell and others.

District Attorney Swann said:

"We have not gone into the bootlegging story far enough to form any opinion. It merits the most careful investigation, however, and in due time we have received no information on which any arrest could be ordered."

Eamon De Valera and His 'Double'

Both these men are smiling, and probably at the same joke. President Eamon De Valera of the Irish Republic (left) had his risibilities tickled when he learned he had a "double." Al C. Joy, San Francisco newspaper man (right) grinned broadly when Mayor Rolph of San Francisco mistook him for De Valera and officially greeted him.

VALERA SPEAKS ON IRISH PLANK

At San Francisco Meeting Urges That Democrats Recognize Republic

San Francisco, June 30.—Addressing thousands of Friends of Irish Freedom at a mass meeting at Dreamland Rink, President Eamon De Valera of the Irish Republic voiced the essential features of a plank that will be recommended to the Democratic Convention for adoption, dealing with recognition of Irish Independence.

De Valera said in part:

"Ireland's claim for recognition rests on the principle that a separate and distinct nation that has never surrendered its sovereignty is entitled to choose, free from outside dictation, that form of government which the people of the country deem best for themselves.

"There has never been any contractual or voluntary union between Ireland and England. The Irish question is, therefore, not a domestic question for Britain in any sense."

The speaker asserted that the fighting always had been between two distinct nations; that Ireland, in December, 1918, held a National election, chose her own government and declared her independence. He added that municipal and rural elections held this year have proved that the local majority of the Irish people are supporting the Republic and giving it their allegiance. Only the fortified places, he said, are held by British power.

Failure by the United States to recognize the republic but strengthens the hands of Britain, said De Valera, the British exercising a tyranny that is contrary to American ideals.

The question of recognition, he concluded, is not only an Irish one, but an American one as well.

READING MOTHER ACCUSED OF KIDNAPING CHILDREN

Charged with kidnaping her two young children, Mrs. Mabel C. Doe of No. 10 Pleasant street, Reading, had her case continued for two weeks, when she was arraigned before Judge Johnson in the Woburn District Court.

According to the testimony the husband of the family died a short time ago, and by decision of the Probate Court Mrs. Doe's father-in-law was appointed guardian of the children, whose ages are two and four years. It is alleged Mrs. Doe took the babies to the home of her mother in Vermont. Her arrest on the kidnaping charge followed.

NEWBURYPORT'S STREET SUPERINTENDENT OUSTED

Newburyport, June 30.—Declaring that he has reached the limit of his patience on account of the large number of complaints received regarding the conditions of the streets of the city, Mayor David P. Page has refused to reappoint the present superintendent of streets, William McKay. He has named in his place Charles E. Kelley, tree warden.

WORCESTER WOMEN PREPARING TO VOTE

Worcester, June 30.—Worcester women will be given an immediate chance to get their names on the voting lists as a result of the decision just made by the registrars of voters. The women believe that ratification of the suffrage amendment is only a matter of a few weeks more. For the present registration of women will be for the purpose of voting for school officials only.

Wilson Namesake Baby

Provincetown, June 30.—President Wilson has a seven-pound namesake in this town. A son recently born to Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson was christened Woodrow Wilson.

'Baby Doll' Contented With Her New Life

No longer do prison garments, nor underworld associates, nor the dubious ways of dubious folk have any part in the life of a "Baby Doll"—Eleanor Baker, just released from a Worcester prison.

Eleanor, out on parole from her year's sentence as accessory in the murder of Dwight F. Chapman, of Westboro, knows nothing now of cells nor iron bars, nor coarse prison clothes.

She is living a life probably never experienced by her before.

In the cozy little home of Mrs. Fred Switzer, of Worcester, in a white muslin dress, as the daughter of the house, she received company with her new "mother," under careful chaperonage.

NO PRISON MARRIAGE.

Reports have gone out that Eleanor, whose "marriage" to Baker was found to be illegal, would marry him again while he was in prison. She and her new guardian, Mrs. Switzer, today scouted the idea of a prison marriage.

"Nothing could be further from my little girl's intentions," said Mrs. Switzer.

"Nothing could be further from my intentions," re-echoed "Baby Doll."

"But the most pressing, the most grave difficulty I am facing just now is the problem of work.

"I want to find life again exactly this time. I want to get what work I can, honest and sincerely. That is why I do not wish to tell lies, like giving any other name but my own. I am afraid that if I do give my own name nobody will hire me. I am experienced only as an attendant in a sanitarium. It looks to me as if about all I can secure is a position as housework, through Mrs. Switzer or some of her friends.

NOW SHE IS CONTENT.

Did she dream, as she and Baker fled after the murder of old Chapman, that ever she would "arise to prayers and to go to church Sunday"? Does she think of that other life now? And is she content, ed? She says she is.

LODGER FOUND DEAD FROM GAS; POISON NEAR

Clement Szyowinski, thirty years of age, married, and who lived in Plymouth, Pa., was found dead in his bed in a lodging house at No. 161 Court street today, with the gas turned on and two bottles of iodine beside the bed, one partially consumed. A letter directed to his wife, addressed Market street, Perth Amboy, New Jersey, was taken in charge by Medical Examiner Magrath.

SIX MORE RESIGN IN CHELSEA SCHOOLS

Six more resignations were accepted by the Chelsea School Committee, George J. Abbott, director of music, resigned, and Alexander E. Cleary of West Roxbury was elected in his place. Raymond S. Morrill, junior master of the high school, resigned to accept a position in a bank in New Hampshire. The others are Misses Grace E. Dykman, Care L. Cooper, Marion C. Peterson and Mary J. Quigley.

TUFTS MAN SUED FOR DIVORCE

Wife of Professor Ellis M. Black Alleges Inadequate Support in Petition

Columbus, O., June 30.—Mrs. Laura W. Black, wife of Ellis M. Black, an assistant professor at Tufts College, Medford, Mass., filed a suit for divorce here against her husband, in which she petitions for alimony.

Mrs. Black alleges that following their marriage on January 24, 1917, they moved to Massachusetts, where she was forced by her husband to scrub and clean an apartment building which he had taken charge of. The ceremony was performed by the W. O. Thompson, president of the Ohio State University.

She also charges in her petition that her husband, while making $200 a month, gave her only $25 a month to keep the family on, and did not during the year that she was there give her more than $50 for clothing. She has one daughter, the custody of whom the wife seeks.

GIRL ADMITS THEFT OF $200 DIAMOND RING

North Adams, June 30.—After pleading guilty to larceny of a diamond ring valued at $200 from a local jewelry store, Miss Beatrice Shook, alias Mary Whitney, alias Alice Pendle, was sentenced by the local court to a year at Sherborn. Judge C. T. Phelps then suspended sentence saying he wanted to give the young woman another chance. Her aged father from Morrisville, Vt., was in court.

The young woman was last week fined $200 in Lowell for larceny and was given a suspended sentence by the Fitchburg court on a similar charge there.

WILSON INTERESTED ONLY IN TREATY, SAYS COUSIN

Washington, June 30.—President Wilson is interested in only one question, before the Democratic National Convention—the Peace Treaty—according to John A. Wilson of Franklin, Pa., a cousin of the President, who visited the White House.

"Woodrow has never mentioned a word about candidates," said Mr. Wilson. "I'm sure he has no choice. He is for the treaty of peace, and beyond it, as not the slightest interest in the candidates."

RETURNED TO LYNN TO FACE CHARGE OF LARCENY

Accused of the larceny of $3,700 from Mrs. Elizabeth Lamparter of No. 504 Essex street, Lynn, Mme. Vashti, alias Mrs. Daisy Stanley, with her husband, Thomas Stanley, and their five children, were brought here under arrest by Cleveland, Ohio, police inspectors. The woman's husband is held as an accomplice.

INFIDELITY CHARGED TO LEXINGTON WIFE

Pietro Penta of Watertown, has filed a suit for divorce against his wife, Mrs. Lillian Penta of Lexington. They were married April 22, 1907. He alleges unfaithfulness.

HYPNOTISM MAY REPLACE ETHER

Specialists Feel Surgeons and Dentists Can Do Away With Anaesthetics

London, June 30.—Will hypnotism take the place of anaesthetics?

Specialists in every branch of surgery are beginning to feel that the application of the power of the mind to the weaknesses of the body can be directed in such a way as to solve medical and surgical problems in a manner which our forefathers would have denounced as magic.

Quietly, on account of the danger of proceeding with such work on a grand scale until repeated experiments have justified its claims, doctors, and dentists, too, are beginning to replace chloroform and other anaesthetics with magnetism and auto-suggestion.

They will not as a rule, discuss the matter with laymen unless they are sure of a sympathetic hearing, which shall not lead to a mischievous and ill-considered, if not scandalous, criticism, for to the lay and unsympathetic mind the idea that difficult operations may be conducted without any other anaesthetic than the personal magnetism of the operator and yet leave neither pain nor the memory of pain in the mind of the patient, is one which might well be rejected as incredible and denounced as something little better than charlatanism.

If the names of the specialists who are studying auto-suggestion, with the idea of incorporating it into the practice of surgery, could be published, the lay world would be astounded, for they include men whose reputation in the medical profession and in scientific circles is so high that to be affected by the breath of suspicion.

In their heart of hearts these men hope that it will not be long before a patient who is wheeled into the operating room will not require chloroform or methyl-ether-alcohol, but will be "put to sleep" by the influence of a stronger mind acting upon his own.

Nor will the dentist's chair, to compare small things with great, maintain its former terrors. The dentist of the future, instead of terrifying his patient with the awful array of technical instruments, will smile with a sympathetic knowledge, and by the sole influence his patient to a condition in which not even the most sensitive nerves will pain him when it is touched.

BLACKBERRY CORDIAL LISTED AS LIQUOR

Blackberry cordial, wild cherry wine and other similar "medicines" are liquors, says the Internal Revenue Bureau. They can be sold only to persons with prescriptions. The bureau's new wine list contains also therefore considered harmless concoctions as elixir of licorice, elixir of orange, compounded with spirits of juniper and compound tincture of lavender.

ARM OFF WINDOW, PASSENGER INJURED

William H. Mills of No. 27 Hyde street, Revere, while riding in his work in Lynn on an Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company car, received injuries to his left arm, which was on a window sill, by a passing, protruding from a passing car struck him. He was taken to the Lynn Hospital.

Reed 'Polished Off' by a Winsome Woman

San Francisco, June 30.—A woman "got" Jim Reed. When Mrs. Wilson Woodrow Martin of Cape Girardeau, a little town in Missouri, got onto a street car in front of the convention hall at 2 o'clock yesterday morning and went to a little room in an inconspicuous hotel to retire for the night, she was due to awaken famous.

Between the hours of one and two she had "polished off" Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, had read him out of the Missouri delegation, out of the convention and practically out of the Democratic party.

Reed, who before late in the Democratic convention itself was hissing the name of the very man she had overthrown.

For many months the Democrats of Missouri have disliked Senator Reed for his stand against Wilson. The State convention of Missouri on April 27 chose delegates to the national convention, but it did not select Senator Reed. Two weeks after the convention Kansas City chose Reed as a delegate.

Reed came in San Francisco to claim a seat in the convention Monday night at midnight the credentials committee got around to Missouri and Reed case in the committee room at the Auditorium. Reed's defenders were heard.

The committeemen were sleepy and tired; they were taking things pretty easy. Up arose Governor Edward Gaitra, national committeeman from Missouri, asked the committee what they thought of Mrs. Martin. She took the "witness" chair, and within five minutes she had the sleepy committeemen laughing at her sound wit and homely common sense.

She told the whole story of how Missourians had elected Reed to the Senate, at a time when Reed was supporting Wilson with might and main.

"But as soon as he was all safely elected," she said, "he turned on us and began to oppose everything that Wilson did. He was against food measures in the war, he opposed conscription, he knifed us in every way. We mothers of Missouri were giving our sons to the country and Reed was in our path."

She spoke with an easy smile; committeemen said afterwards that their self-like boys who were being tolerantly scolded by a wise and common sense mother.

Mrs. Martin's story overrode all the elegant arguments of the attorneys and the political leaders on the other side, and, still smiling, the committee voted 33 to 9 against seating Senator Reed.

PREDICT SHOES FOR $2.50

Oklahoma Dealers Say Bottom Has Dropped Out of Hide and Wool Markets

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 30.—Two-dollar and a half shoes are predicted here by hide dealers, who declare the bottom has dropped out of the hide and wool markets.

Calf hides, which six months ago brought $1 a pound, have been offered lately at 25 cents a pound, with no purchasers. Green salted hides have fallen from 18 cents to 12 cents a pound.

N. B. LaBryer, manager of a large hide company here, said today the decline in price is due to inability of tanners to ship their goods because of railway congestion and because of fear of credit stringency. Big stocks of high-priced leather, he stated, purchased several months ago, still are on hand.

"Many tanneries have closed down and others are running half time," said LaBryer.

Wool, which a year ago sold for 50 and 55 cents a pound, is now quoted at 25 cents and it is hard to find purchasers. A single flock was offered 24 cents a pound for Shropshire wool if he could get a carload at the wool sale held at Enid.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN CAN SIT ON GRASS

Women and children, reclining on the handmade quilts of Belmont Hill on Boston Common during the band concert Sunday will no longer be policed, according to an announcement by Chairman James H. Sull of the Park and Recreation department. He declared that the police would be notified of the ruling. Men, however, are barred.

TAKES 50 MEN TO DIG HORSE OUT OF WELL

Manchester, N. H., June 30.—A valuable horse belonging to Charles Sanborn of Concord, N. H., walked into a well while its driver was eating his lunch and it took fifty men an hour to extricate him with the aid of a derrick. Men from one of the fire companies were sent to assist in the rescue.

TWO OVERCOME BY GAS AT $3,000 WALTHAM FIRE

Catherine O'Neil, aged seventy-five, housekeeper for William Barnes and Mrs. were overcome by gas fumes when heat from a fire on the second floor of the apartment in the Abington Court block on Moody street, Waltham, melted lead connections on a number of gas stoves, it is said. Campbell, the police say, was in a machine on Nantasket avenue, near Hardwick, when he was ordered to be held up by the police and told to fight the machine near Lake. While stopping to the rear of the machine, he was struck by a car operated by Frederick A. Keefe, of Nantasket Beach and jammed between the two machines.

ASK $25,000 FOR DEATH ON TRACK OF B. & M.

The Boston & Maine Railroad was sued for $25,000 in the Middlesex Superior Civil court by Edward J. Sullivan, administrator of the estate of John D. Sullivan of Waltham, who was said that the deceased caught a foot in the tracks at the Newton street crossing in Waltham and was killed by a train.

ANDREWS HOMESTEAD IN NEWPORT BURNED

Veteran Weds After Childhood Romance

MRS. CHARLES S. MERLINE.

A childhood romance culminated today in the marriage of Miss Mary C. Gerael, daughter of Risse Gerael of No. 9 Haley street, Roxbury, to Charles S. Merline of Norfolk Downs, a war veteran who served in the Medical Corps. The ceremony was performed at a high nuptial mass at St. Joseph's Church, Roxbury. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Jennie Gerael, and the groom by Alfred R. Thatcher of Dorchester.

Rose Eddington and Martha Gerael acted as flower girls and Theodore Gerael, small brother of the bride, was the ring bearer. After a honeymoon trip, the couple will live in Norfolk Downs.

$5,000 BAIL IN AUTO DEATH AT NANTASKET

Charged with manslaughter in causing the death of Arthur L. Campbell of No. 196 Emerson street, Roxbury, Salvatore Pacheco, of No. 1942 Washington street, Roxbury, was held in $5,000 in the Abington Court today for a hearing on July 13. Campbell, the police say, was in a machine on Nantasket avenue, near Hardwick, when he was ordered to be held up by the police and told to fight the machine near Lake. While stopping to the rear of the machine, he was struck by a car operated by Frederick A. Keefe, of Nantasket Beach and jammed between the two machines.

COOLIDGE FACES HECKLING

Suffragists Threaten Him If He Refuses to Hear Their Plea in Washington

Washington, June 30.—Governor Coolidge, Republican vice-presidential candidate, was in for a lively time when he arrived in Washington last night en route with Senator Harding, if the militant suffragists, who make Washington their headquarters, have their way.

They intended to begin in a "dignified" way, by having one of their number wait on him and ask him to receive a delegation to plead the suffrage cause. If he persisted in his refusal to receive them, as he has stated today, he will be heckled wherever he appears until he is ready to hear the Boston delegation.

Following the announcement that Governor Roberts of Tennessee would not call an extra session of the Legislature to pass on the suffrage amendment, August Wilbur Mattis, treasurer of the Democratic national committee, and Vance McCormick, former chairman, began a telegraphic poll of the Tennessee Legislature, with the object of announcing the result during the Democratic convention.

Lt.-Gov. Cox to Speak

MRS. CARUSO IN A DILEMMA

Has No Clew to Stolen Gems, but She Scouts the "Black Hand" Theory

Atlantic City, June 30.—"No, I do not entertain the theory that the Black Hand has anything to do with the robbery of my jewels," emphatically declared Mrs. Enrico Caruso.

Nervous from experiences attending the recent theft of her jewels from her country home at Eagle Hampton, L. I., Mrs. Caruso, accompanied by her little daughter, Gloria, arrived here three days ago. She was joined here today by Mr. Caruso after a concert tour in Cuba.

Mrs. Caruso said:

"To my mind the Black Hand theory does not hold water. We have not received any Black Hand letters. Of course, Mr. Caruso got some before we were married, but I think they were another kind of hand, and I guess they were very black at that. He used to get all sorts of letters in those days.

"Have you any theories concerning the theft?"

"Absolutely none. I do not believe it was an inside job. I don't see how anybody on the inside could have done it. I am a light sleeper. Of course, I have received lots of letters from kind-hearted people who had dreams and who told me to dig in this or that place to my garden where I would surely find my jewels.

"I appreciate their kindly interest, but I haven't done any digging yet. I think that in time we will probably find some trace of the jewels. My detectives are trying to, but I suppose that is a way detectives have.

"I have two employed myself, and there are three other agencies working on the case. As the matter stands I haven't the faintest clew. I wish I had. My jewelers value the stolen articles at a half-million dollars, but I don't think they were worth that much. The most valuable articles was a $75,000 pearl necklace."

REPORT HICKSON CURED PARALYZED WOMEN

Worcester, Mass.—Healed, she believes, by faith which she sought through the Christian mission of healing conducted by Dr. Harry Hickson two weeks ago by James M. Hickson, English church layman, Mrs. Maria Gibson of Willington, Conn., sixty years old has recovered the use of both legs after being paralyzed from the waist down for 14 years. She left the chair about her home and attending to her household duties. She says she is cured by the healing mission. This story is vouched for by Rev. Dr. Lewis G. Morris, pastor of All Saints' Church.

SAYS CUMMINGS' SPEECH COMPELS THIRD PARTY

New York, June 30.—Charmian Hopkins Cummings' keynote speech at the Democratic convention in San Francisco only emphasizes the need for a third party, declared Chairman A. H. Hopkins, chairman of the Prohibition party here today. "Both parties are trying to use the League of Nations as a red herring to divert the attention of the public from the real issues," said he.

RESENTS ACTION ON U. S. BONDS

Real Estate Exchange Says Buyers of "Libertys" Are Being Penalized

"Charging just subscribers to Liberty bonds have been 'penalized for their patriotism' and that the government is breaking faith with the people who came forward in time of stress," the Massachusetts Real Estate Exchange has written an open letter to David F. Houston, Secretary of the Treasury, protesting against the policy adopted by the Federal Reserve Banks as to loans made to purchasers of Liberty bonds and demanding relief.

The letter says in part:

"When subscriptions were being solicited to the various issues, as made in the last two issues, people were told that if they would make a purchase of the bonds they would be permitted to borrow from the banks up to approximately 90 per cent. of their par value at a little higher rate than the rate of the bonds for an indefinite period, providing that such loans were frequently reduced by partial payments and paid in full within a reasonable time.

"With this assurance and in order to promote the success of the issues, many people from patriotic motives purchased bonds far beyond their capacity to immediately pay for them.

"The rate has now been raised by the loaning banks to 6 per cent. or more from a basis that the rate on rediscounted notes, secured by Liberty bonds, has been correspondingly increased by the Federal Reserve Banks, and the effect, as you know, has been that many borrowers have felt obliged to sell their bonds even at depreciated prices.

"There is a very general feeling that the rates on this class of loans are working a hardship when people ought not to be called upon to load, and that the effect is to penalize people for their patriotism.

"Thus we feel that, in a number of ways, the government is breaking faith with the people who came forward to aid it in a time of stress, and we are hearing the same opinion expressed by bankers and by employers of labor who are frequently being called upon by employes to repurchase Liberty Bonds at their face value to make good the representations which had been made to them."

1,400 MACHINISTS NOW STRIKING IN PAWTUCKET

Pawtucket, R. I., June 30.—Over 700 more machinists employed at the H. & B. American Machine Company joined their striking shopmates, bringing the total number of strikers to 1,400. At a meeting it was unanimously voted to remain out until their demand for a 15 per cent. wage increase is granted.

LOGAN QUITS ROME DEFENCE

Counsel for Alleged Draft Dodger Heads Protest of Legion Members

Following the stormy protest registered by American Legion members when they learned that he was to act as counsel for Philip L. Rome, alleged Worcester draft dodger, Colonel Edward L. Logan has withdrawn from the case.

While the former commander of the 101st infantry refuses to shed light on the subject, it is learned from other sources that the incident created a sensation in American Legion circles, particularly in Worcester County.

Officials of Worcester Post threatened to resign or start a State-wide movement to unseat Logan as State commander of the legion if he persisted in his course.

Several weeks ago Colonel Logan was associated with Judge A. K. Cohen in preparing the civil side of Grome's defence for the court-martial the wealthy Worcester man must face.

DENIES CONNECTION.

Today he denied any connection with the case, and said testily in refusing to discuss the matter at length:

"I wish to state now that I will not appear as counsel for this person, Rome, nor have I been assigned as counsel.

"I am only slightly acquainted with the facts in the case. I have no idea how such an absurd story circulated."

Just before word came of Colonel Logan's elimination of himself from the Rome case American Legion officials of Worcester Post were busy expressing surprise and indignation at his course in acting for the alleged slacker.

"The question of acting as counsel for Rome is between Colonel Logan and his conscience," said Commander Georges W. Jones of Worcester Post.

Vice-Commander Jacob Reed said: "I cannot understand how he can justify his position.

"One of the movements of the Legion is to punish the draft dodgers in justice to all service men, living and dead."

THREATENS TO RESIGN.

"To have the State commander of the American Legion defend Philip Rome for a few paltry pieces of silver is to my mind incongruous.

"If the high officials of the legion are to double-cross the organization, I do not want to belong to it. If Colonel Logan stays with the case after our protest reaches him, a number of Worcester Legion men will will either resign or start a State-wide fight to impeach him."

Major "Tom" Foley of Worcester, close personal friend of Colonel Logan, stated that he would 'see Colonel Logan,' not knowing at the time that the latter was out of the case, and denied any part in it.

Philip L. Rome is a drygoods dealer in Worcester, and was arraigned before a court-martial at army headquarters yesterday.

The specific charge against him is desertion of the military forces in time of war. It is alleged he got a three weeks' leave of absence after induction into the draft army and went to South America for a long period.

His trial will be resumed next Tuesday.

COHASSET TRAIN NEARLY WRECKED BY BAD TRUCK

A broken truck frame under the tender of the locomotive of New Haven Train No. 13, running from Boston to Cohasset, was discovered by trainmen in time to avert a bad wreck. The train was traveling at a moderate rate of speed through the Norfolk Downs yard when the defect was discovered. Traffic on the line was held up for practically an hour until the train could be removed.

BIRD REFUSES G. O. P. SUPPORT FOR GOVERNOR

Charles Sumner Bird has declined to accept the indorsement as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor. In a letter to Robert M. Washburn, Grafton D. Cushing and Joseph Walker, the three men who urged his candidacy, Mr. Bird made it clear that a primary fight at this time might precipitate a split in the Republican party.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's recipe to bring color, lustre and youthfulness to hair when faded, streaked or gray.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur restores its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture, you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

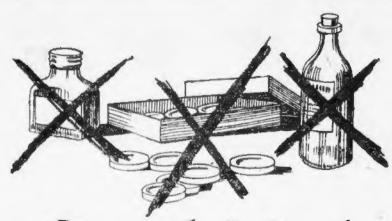
Throw Away Your Pills

Eat Delicious Breakfast Instead



Cereal Meal, a New, Nourishing and Constructive Breakfast Food, Corrects the Real Cause of Constipation and Relieves the Dangerous Condition Which Destructive Pills and Medicines Only Aggravate and Make More Harmful.

Cereal Meal

The Breakfast Cereal That Rids You of Constipation

YEAR after year thousands of people have been dosing themselves with pills and laxatives. And yet these same people suffer as much and as continually from constipation as ever. The reason is that pills, oils, salts and other laxatives do not correct constipation—they merely temporarily remove the effect—and constipation thus comes about time and time again.

BUT now a new kind of breakfast cereal has been discovered which corrects constipation and brings about the regular daily evacuation which Nature intended, without drugs. Served hot with cream or milk and sugar this new cereal, the greatest advance in a hundred years, banishes the need for laxatives.

THERE is nothing else like it. Do not confuse it with bran or whole wheat or ordinary breakfast foods. Cereal Meal is a delicious, nourishing food, which is Nature's own answer to the problem of constipation.

What Users Say

Throws Pill Box Away

"I am glad to say that Cereal Meal is a fine thing for the health. I have recommended it to several of my friends. My wife has thrown her pill box away and I have also the same result."
Mr. J. A. J., Chicago, Ill.

Cereal Meal Breaks 46-Year Habit

"Please send me one more package of Cereal Meal. Have used up the three packages. For forty-six forty years that I did not have to take physic. Thanks."

30-Year Case

"I was terribly constipated for 30 years. Pills were killing me. CEREAL MEAL did only thing that ever cured constipation, but it made a permanent cure of me."

Case of 28 Years' Standing

"Cereal Meal has completely cured me of constipation of twenty-eight years standing. It is truly an IDEAL Health Food, something that one should not live at it."

"These are only a few of hundreds of other letters. Full names and addresses gladly given to those interested.

Nature's Food

EVEN far-off Japan has furnished one of the ingredients which help to make Cereal Meal Nature's real food for those who suffer from constipation. Cereal Meal builds up the intestinal muscles, strengthens and tones up the intestinal tract so regular evacuation is produced by Nature in a healthy, normal way.

CEREAL MEAL, instead of irritating the intestines, soothes and heals, tones up and invigorates them.

One Week's Free Trial

WE invite you to accept our offer of a package of Cereal Meal free if, within one week, it does not make you feel a new person. If you are suffering from constipation, no matter of how long standing, if you are tortured by headaches, gas, indigestion, fermentation, loss of energy, despondency, distress, intestinal catarrh, hemorrhoids, or any other of the numerous complaints resulting from constipation, eat Cereal Meal tomorrow morning at breakfast. See how delicious it is. Note its natural, gentle action. Let the children have a steaming bowl. Notice how the health of the entire family improves.

AND remember you are not obligated to finish the package, but can secure full refund if, within one week, you are not completely satisfied that here at last is the natural remedy and preventative of constipation. STEAL AUTO AS OWNER WATCHES

Mrs. Henry P. Ayer Sees Thieves Run Off With Touring Car

The police of the Lagrange Street station were today searching for an auto thief and his accomplice, a woman, who stepped into a machine on Tamworth street and sped away, while its owner, Mrs. Henry P. Ayer, of No. 23 Lakewood road, Newton, was walking down the street ten feet behind the car.

Mrs. Ayer thought that her son and daughter were starting the machine, as they had accompanied her to the Hotel Touraine to supper. When the car turned into Lagrange street and started to pick up speed and disappear in the traffic her children came walking up behind her. She then realized that the machine had been "stolen under her eyes."

Fred H. Gardner, claiming to live on Main street, Medford, was arrested by the police of the Back Bay station charged with attempting to steal an automobile valued at $2,500 from Scotia street.

When taken into custody the prisoner had on his person a 22 caliber revolver and a dozen rounds of ammunition.

Noted Italian Here

Rev. Father Semeria, a member of the Order of Barnabites in Italy, whose oratory on the eve of battles is said by the King of Italy and the generals of the Italian army to have been the inspiring cause of victories, will speak in Boston Friday night in aid of the Italian movement to build homes for the war orphans of Italy. The address will be delivered in Washington Hall, No. 995 Washington street.

FOUR HURT IN WIND STORM

Traffic Delayed and Heavy Wires Blown Down in Greater Boston

Four men were injured, street car traffic was delayed, electric wires were blown down, when a swind storm swept over Greater Boston, causing heavy damage.

James McNeil, fifty-five years old, of No. 53 Dover street, South End, while working at the Beaver Chocolate Company, No. 267 Broadway, South Boston, was knocked to the ground by a heavy iron gate at the shop, when it was ripped from its hinges by the wind. He was taken to the City Hospital.

STRUCK TO GROUND.

Antonio Goshgrain, forty-eight years old, of No. 5 Cortes street, South End, was struck to the ground by a heavy branch blown from a tree near the Tremont street mall while walking through the Common. He suffered a fractured lower left arm.

Fred E. Thoday of No. 33 Lithgow street, Mattapan, while working on a staging at a garage at No. 171 Norfolk street, Dorchester, was blown off by the gale, falling seven feet to the ground.

City Forester Andrew Stewart of Quincy was struck on the back by a heavy limb blown from a tree on Flynt street, Quincy. He was not seriously hurt.

BAD ALONG SHORE.

Residents of the North and South shores stated that the storm was the worst in that section in years. Clouds of dust rolled through the streets and sand along the beaches was hurled against pedestrians with blinding force.

Savin Hill, lower Dorchester Bay and City Point were enveloped in clouds of sand blown from the Strandway.

WILL OF DR. McCARTHY OF MALDEN IS FILED

The will of Dr. Charles D. McCarthy of Malden, who died June 22, was filed in the East Cambridge Probate Court. He leaves his entire estate in trust, to be divided between his widow, Mrs. Mary E. McCarthy, and his two children, Charles D. McCarthy, Jr., and Mrs. Margaret M. Stepanian. No valuation of the estate is named. The executor is Attorney Augustine J. Daly.

Government Employes Must Obey Auto Laws Regarding Auto Speeding

Drivers of mail trucks who endanger the lives of citizens will have their right to operate suspended and are subject to prosecution and punishment.

State Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin declared that they are subject to the rules and regulations of state or city.

"There have been many complaints against the alleged recklessness and speeding of mail truck drivers, resulting in many instances in arrest but subsequent release.

"While the registrar of motor vehicles cannot collect fees for registration of government-owned trucks or fees from employes for licenses," said forced."

Find Bodies Through Vision in Dream

Burlington, Vt., June 30.—A dream was responsible for the finding of the bodies of George Raymond, Jr., 14, son of George Raymond of Park avenue, this city, and his uncle, Winford Raymond 17, son of Xavier Raymond of Fletcher, in the Lamoille river at Fletcher.

According to Winford's father the vision of the boy's mother appeared before him in a dream and directed him to look for the boys in the river. They had been absent from home since Sunday.

The dream was so vivid that the father wakened and at 2 o'clock went to the river bank where he found the boy's clothing. At daybreak the bodies were recovered.

Mr. Goodwin, "all State or local regulations with reference to the equipment of said trucks or the operation of the same can and must be enforced."

EXPECT LOVE LETTERS WILL CAUSE SENSATION

Gloucester, June 30.—A sensation is predicted when love letters alleged to have been written by Loren H. Nason, married and a wealthy lumber dealer of this city, to Mrs. Catherine S. Johnson, wife of Walter R. Johnson, manager of a Boston investment Company, are produced in court.

Johnson is suing for $50,000 for love, charging alienation of his wife's affections by Nason.

The letters are in the possession of Johnson's lawyer, William J. Kelly of No. 46 Court street, Boston.

BIG BREAD WASTE IN NEW YORK WEEKLY

New York, June 30.—More than 1,000,000 loaves of bread, in the form of stale bread and toast, are wasted in New York each week, according to Mrs. Louise R. Wellamiller, deputy commissioner of public markets. This is equivalent to 890,000 bushels of wheat a year.

CHILD SAVED BY MOTHER

Gertrude Lamarre, six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anselme Lamarre, 20 Main Street, Sanford, Maine, was saved from death by the prompt action of her mother, who administered Dr. True's Elixir.

Mrs. Lamarre wrote the following to Dr. J. F. True & Co.: "My daughter, Gertrude, had dizzy spells and could not even go out, for she always complained of being sick. She used your elixir (Dr. True's Elixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller), she never had any fits since. I feel very grateful to you."

Symptoms of worms: Constipation, deranged stomach, variable appetite, pale face, bad breath, bad taste in mouth, nervousness, starting from sleep with occasional grindings and pains about the navel, pale face or sudden flushes, tired very easy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the anus, grinding of the teeth, short dry cough, grinding of the teeth, little red points standing out on the tongue, starting during sleep, slow fevers.

Dr. True's Elixir has been faithful in its duties as a family Laxative and Worm Expeller since 1865. Mothers! Don't neglect your children when they complain their health is simply out of order. Give them a few doses of this pure herb laxative, which Dr. True's Elixir is, will prompt ly relieve all worry and disorders. At all Dr. Lists.

Filene's —"And you have better values, too"

A BUSINESS woman who had come all the way across the continent from California dropped into the office this week to tell us that she had been reading for months about Filene Better Values and almost before she had breakfasted in Boston, she taxied up to the Filene store to look around. "And," she added, "they're all you say about them. They ARE better values. The $5.75 waists in your windows, were the first thing I saw. Out where I come from they would be 'better values' at $7.50." And then she added, "And you're so busy all the time, too. At 9:15 you had more customers than I've seen in corresponding departments of any store I've been in while crossing the continent."

And so you see the two go together: Filene Better Values and a Busy Store. The Better Values make the store busy, and the busy store makes possible better values. Now, as always, New England folks (and visitors, too) find that

OFFICIAL WARNING TO THE PUBLIC

Answer

IT'S YOUR OWN FAULT

We are among Lynn's largest and best known shoe manufacturers. We never dreamed of selling our products direct to the public. We are taking every possible precaution to see that every purchaser is given the same service (or better, if possible) rendered by the best shoe stores in the country.

Our wonderful system—plenty of salesmen to help pick out the styles.

Dozens of expert fitters to fit you properly.

A mammoth space (45,000 sq. ft.) in use of a sales floor.

Shoes cheerfully exchanged or money refunded.

Note large signs throughout store in reference to refunds and exchanges.

Orders for these very shoes were accepted and made in good faith. On account of weather conditions this spring, Retailers did not do their customary business—and cancellations came in galore. There remained nothing for us, as manufacturers, to do but sell these shoes direct to the public—and as quickly as possible.

We are taking a loss of thousands of dollars. Therefore you can readily understand that nothing but the newest styles can be shown. There are no "last season's" shoes here.

You should buy freely—

Because you save from $6.50 to $12.50 per pair and be able to buy year advance styles at $5.50 per pair.

IRISH PLANK IS NOT UNLIKELY, SAYS WESTERN STATESMAN

By CHARLES O. POWER.

San Francisco, Cal., June 30.—An Irish plank in the Democratic platform is not unlikely. That is the way a prominent member of the sub-committee on resolutions expressed himself to me. By an Irish plank is meant one that will mention Ireland specifically and give a mite of sympathetic recognition to the aspirations of the people of that country for a government of their own.

So that there may be no confusion as to that information coming from Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts, I will say that my informant represents a Western State as a delegate and high public official.

"Will the committee recommend an Irish plank?" I asked the Western statesman.

"It is not at all unlikely" he replied.

"Will it be in favor of the freedom of Ireland and an independent Irish government?"

"That I would rather not say, but this I will say, that, in my opinion, the committee favors and will report some kind of a plank relative to the desires of the people of Ireland for republican form of government."

Mayor Edward W. Quinn of Cambridge has received information to the same effect. Senator Phelan of California, who, with Boies P. Walsh, presented the case of Ireland for platform recognition to the committee, is confident that there will be a favorable report of some kind. So is Bourke Cockran of New York.

DE VALERA IS HOPEFUL.

Eamon De Valera, President of the Republic of Ireland, is hopeful. He said to me after the hearing: "I am satisfied our cause was in competent hands and that it was presented ably. I have a feeling that the great Democratic party will recognize the justice of our plea. Of course, the reports that come to me are encouraging, but that is to be expected. I am hopeful. I feel greatly encouraged."

If the platform committee does not favor a plank for the complete independence of the Philippines it will not be the fault of the young Filipino who advocated it.

It looks as if there would be a bonus plank for the service men and women. Fifty delegates, members of the American Legion, convened before noon. Coolidge of Pittsburg and Humphrey O'Sullivan of Lowell came and appointed a committee of five to represent them. Every member was an officer, but everyone spoke for the doughboy.

Richard C. Jones of Washington was the chairman, but the longest and the best speech was made by Robert C. Morchie of Concord, N. H., national committeeman from that State.

As stated in a story Monday, Senator Walsh is not a candidate for the nomination for President. When he discovered that the convention procedure put nominations of candidates on the calendar for today and ahead of the consideration of the platform, he sent word to his friends in Massachusetts and Rhode Island not to vote for him. There has been much mention of the Massachusetts Senator as the candidate for Vice-President.

Richard H. Long of Massachusetts, member of the committee on credentials, says he voted to seat Senator James Reed as the delegate from the Fifth Missouri District, but that his fate had been settled in advance.

Martin M. Lomasney of Boston is here and is working in his own quiet way for the friendly plank for Ireland.

PETTY PLOT SPOILED.

Senator Walsh's notice to the delegates not to give him a complimentary vote has spoiled a petty plot of the little fellows on the Massachusetts delegation to send a bolt of spleen. They had it all arranged to demand a poll of the delegation if any votes should be cast for the Senator so that they might be recorded against him.

The great leaders of the chafed six who are inflexibly to Senator Walsh are Delegates Rodolph of New Bedford, Metivier of Lynn and Lyons of Springfield. The more silent partners are Delegates Thadeus of Taunton, Loglin, cautioned before mouth, Coolidge of Fitchburg and the time for the presentation of their

200 Delegates Ready for 'Wet' Deal, Says Bryan

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN
Written Expressly for International News Service
(Copyright, 1920, by William Jennings Bryan.)

San Francisco, June 30.—The second day of a convention is seldom exciting. The accumulation of enthusiasm spends itself in the first demonstration.

Permanent Chairman Robinson's remarks about the Senate elicited one of the most enthusiastic outbursts of applause. He disappointed the "dry" by not making any reference to the subject of prohibition, a matter the more surprising because he comes from a "bone dry" State and represents a constituency that has grown more and more firm in its opposition to intoxicants.

There is no time in a politician's life when victory and the offices that come with it loom larger than they do on the second day of a convention.

The set speeches being couched in language more or less cautious the audience has to rely upon the extemporaneous speakers to wave the flag and pull the tall feathers out of the eagle with real abandon.

GOMPERS' PLEA.

Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor presented the claims of those for whom he has so long spoken. He spoke earnestly, as he always does, and made a very favorable impression on the resolutions committee. He will have more reason to rejoice here than he had in Chicago.

Prohibition was the second subject taken up, and no one who was present will be beguiled any longer by those who have been predicting that the subject will be ignored. It was very apparent from the first moment that this is the question upon which there is most feeling.

I had the honor of apportioning the time among those who spoke for and the "dry" plank, and was satisfied with the showing made. Bishop Cannon of the Methodist Church South, typical Virginia Democrat, dwelt on the party's part in this great moral victory and appealed to the committee to ratify those men who had made it so long and successful fight for an assurance that there will be no return to alcoholic drinks.

Wayne B. Wheeler, representing twenty-two national prohibition organizations, concluded the arguments for the side of the general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League he has defended prohibition legislation in all of the higher courts, and if a lawyer's reputation stands upon his success he has no superior as a constitutional lawyer. His presented a terrific arraignment of the liquor traffic and marshalled such an array of facts to prove the success of prohibition as to overwhelm the opposition.

SABATH "WET" LEADER.

The liquor side was in charge of Congressman Sabath of Chicago. Honorable Theodore Bell made the usual argument in favor of personal liberty. In his speech was directed against all prohibitory laws it weakened rather than strengthened the arguments of those who had been trying to make it appear that the "wet" side accepted the saloon issue as closed and urged only a modification of the laws for the benefit of home drinkers. As the press dispatches will probably carry the eulogy between him and myself, I need not dwell upon it further than to express my satisfaction at having an opportunity to answer publicly a misrepresentation that has been circulated privately.

Mr. Gompers was called upon to read a published report to the effect that the labor meeting at Montreal had turned down a wine and beer proposition. The committee was assured that the subject was not mentioned at all.

New York's great orator, W. Bourke Cockran, closed the debate for the "wets" by inveighing with his customary vehemence against any attempt to promote temperance by law.

Taken all in all the hearing very much encouraged the "drys" and increases the probability of a "dry" plank in the platform.

There are probably 200 delegates in the convention who would trade their views on every other question for a "wet" plank and go home happy in the belief that the Democratic party can carry the election by an overwhelming majority. The drinkers and the pockets of those who want to get into the business rather than arguments find appeal to the heart and the conscience.

DELEGATES JEER AT COALITION

Woman Tries to Attack Smith in Bitter Row Over Irish Plank at Convention

By JOHN T. LAMBERT.

San Francisco, June 30.—President Demarest Lloyd and Randolph Welford Smith of the Loyal Coalition of Boston were hooted, hissed and booed by adherents of the Irish cause, and Smith was threatened with an assault by a woman during a stormy session of the resolutions committee of the Democratic national convention.

During his bitter denunciation of cause of Irish freedom Smith asserted that millions of dollars were being taken from the pocketbooks of servants and working girls by the Sinn Fein.

A little woman sitting among the spectators at the rear of the committee members jumped to her feet shouting "that is an insult which all honorable women resent."

WOMAN RUSHES AT SMITH.

She attempted to force her way through the committee where Smith was standing, but a group of delegates immediately surrounded her.

Carter Glass pounded the rostrum with a heavy mallet and cried: "There must be order here."

The man is making an indecent attack upon honorable women," the little woman shouted back.

Delegates and spectators jumped to their feet and imprecations were hurled at Smith from all corners of the room.

"There will be order, or sergeant-at-arms will clear the room," shouted Glass.

The little woman finally left the hall, but Smith and Lloyd were constantly hissed and interrupted by shouts from the spectators and from members of the committee as they continued their assault against the resolution for recognition of the Irish Republic presented by Frank P. Walsh and supported by him and Senator Phelan of California.

LLOYD WARNS OF WAR.

"The condition of some people present raises the question as to whether Sinn Fein has not intervened in America," was a retort Lloyd hurled at the audience at one time. At another time he shouted above the noise of the audience, "The Irish appeal to public sentiment has been abusive and scurrilous" and at another juncture, "Statesmen and newspapers have been afraid to oppose the campaign of intimidation and cajolery."

The same condition of disloyalism is here which exists in Ireland," he continued. "The English government has been patient while State and city governments have sought revolutions. This can't continue forever. It is to end with war with England. Sinn Fein is not deserving of the support of the American government."

ASKED MEANING OF "LOYAL."

A statement to Smith that "ten millions of dollars have been raised in this country for the Sinn Fein" was interrupted by a roar of applause.

When Lloyd said "Ulster would rather die than join in the Irish republic" a voice at the rear of the hall retorted "Ulster burnes the English flag and its people elected the Sinn Fein candidate."

Senator Walsh of Montana, a member of the resolutions committee, demanded that Smith explain "the significance of the word 'Loyal' in Loyal Coalition."

"I have no dictionary here," replied Smith.

Lloyd, Smith and Congressman Connolly of Texas were the spokesmen of opposition to the Irish Freedom resolution. Frank P. Walsh and Senator Phelan divided the time of the proponents.

Walsh said that the republican government of Ireland and advocates in this country of liberty for all small nations for that the cause would be no longer benefited by more expressions of sympathy. He declared that the vast majority of the people of the United States, apart from those of Irish blood, demand freedom for the little green isle and that the people of Montreal at a recent great mass meeting pledged themselves to help the Irish cause in every possible manner. Beginning at Austria and the famous pilgrimage to this country of Kossuth, who was officially received by the American government.

A Special Vacation Offering of Blouses Made to Sell at a Much Greater Price

THE word has come from New York that Tub Net Blouses are worn in preference to georgette. It is easy to understand, for a woman will be cool on the hottest days in one of these airy Blouses, and yet it washes beautifully without losing any of its charm, and at the same time is inexpensive.

We are quite proud of our recent success in getting a large quantity of exquisite Net Blouses—the first of the season—to sell at a price that gives no idea of their excellence and real summery daintiness.

They are charmingly made, many of double net with lace edgings of Val, imitation filet and venise; some are tucked, others are frilly. There are six styles from which to choose—each faultlessly cut and carefully made.

PRELATE FLAYS U. S. EDUCATION

Archbishop Hayes Decries Its Evil Effect on Youth, Scores Federalization Plan

New York, June 30.—Archbishop Patrick J. Hayes, in a sermon delivered at the opening of the seventeenth annual convention of the Catholic Educational Association of the United States, decried the tendency of modern education as detrimental to the youth of the nation.

"With science giving the shrug of doubt as to the existence of God," he said, "with the law courts grinding out divorces ad nauseam, with passing literature that finds it pays to portray characters reeking in moral shame, with young and old gone mad over the lurid motion film, with the drama depraved, with the daily press mirroring the crimes and sins of society, with feminine dress mocking at decency, with ever decreasing respect for authority and reverence for the flag of our country, where is the salvation of the youth of our land?"

Archbishop Hayes denounced the proposed federalization of education, saying "the passion for power blinds the advocates of such a movement to the God-given rights of parents to teach their own offspring." He also denounced "the passion of socialism" as based on the idea of State possession of "everything and everybody."

PRISON GUARD TO SUE FOR HIS REINSTATEMENT

Eugene J. Hanifan of Medford, whose dismissal as guard at State prison was affirmed by Warden Elmer E. Shattuck, will appeal to the Malden Court to review the circumstances leading up to his discharge. He was ousted immediately following the sensational escape of Herman L. Barney, Harry Munster and Charles Ward from the prison.

HELD FOR ATTACKING MAN WHO TOOK LIFE

Miami, Fla., June 30.—Raymond E. Tuckerman was arrested here on a warrant charging him with assault with intent to murder Ralph E. Johnstone of New York three days before young Johnstone shot himself through the heart with an automatic revolver.

Women Urge Jail for Greedy Landlords

Providence, June 30.—"Call a few greedy landlords and don't waste time in investigation," was the advice offered the Fair Price Commissioner by a woman who lives on Fountain street, and said she was "jumped" from $12 to $21 per month.

A dozen women crowded the little office and offered advice, admitted to be excellent, but for lack of jurisdiction.

The offer of Mayor Joseph H. Gainer to have the city solicitor work along "human lines" will result in an open exposure of what is charged to be "robbery" on the part of many landlords.

Veteran City Worker Retires

One of the oldest assistant draftsmen in the employ of the city, Jeremiah Scanlon, who has been in the employ of the public works department for the past eighteen years, was retired at $150 per year, one-half his present salary. The pensioner is seventy-six years of age.

BRITAIN ORDERS AMERICANS OUT

Tells U. S. Citizens to Quit War Zone of Anglo-Greek and Turkish Armies

Washington, June 30.—Americans within the present and immediately prospective scene of the Anglo-Greek war against the Turks have been advised by the British High Commissioner at Constantinople to vacate.

This announcement by the State Department shows conclusively that Great Britain is at the head of this new war, notwithstanding the statements of Lloyd George that England is not greatly "concerned." The orders referring to the danger zones come, nevertheless, from the British and not the Greeks, according to military observers here.

SHOE OFFICIALS MAY DEFY UNION

Threaten to Declare "Open Shop" in Haverhill; Mayor Appealed to

Haverhill, June 30.—With no move on the part of the manufacturers and the union waiting, the adjustment of the shoe situation appears no nearer today than it was two weeks ago with the opening of the agitation in the working schedule. In the meantime about one-third of the firms and shoe workers are engaged in making shoes.

It is intimated that a majority of the members of the association will decide to throw down the gauntlet to the union this week by declaring for an "open shop." If this is done one of the most critical situations in the history of Haverhill's shoe industry will be created.

REFUSE TO TALK.

Secretary Albert M. Child of the Manufacturers' Association will not talk. He has been told to keep silent on whatever is done by the association.

President Hicks of the association says there is nothing new to give out, but conveys the impression that developments are brewing.

Meanwhile, it has been suggested as a means of last resort in forestalling drastic decision by the association, that the appointment of a committee of three shoe manufacturers, three union men and three impartial persons, to adjust the problems and act as mediators in the situation with the best way out of the difficulty.

APPEAL TO MAYOR.

The union officials are likely to accept this proposition. Some of the manufacturers might acquiesce, but there is an element in the association who declare that now is the time to put a quietus to the union which has been a thorn in their side for a year by holding them up, and boosting wages to unheard of levels. With a prolonged deadlock in evidence the mediation committee scheme will be boomed.

Mayor Charles H. Croy may be appealed to to use his influence in adjusting matters. Whatever happens in the line of adjustment there will be no general resumption of shoe business for the next two weeks as four power plants furnishing power for factories in the heart of "shoe town" will close Friday night for repairs.

CONGREGATIONAL COUNCIL PICKS WORLD OFFICERS

The Rev. James L. Barton, D. D., of Boston was elected president of the International Congregational Council at its opening meeting in Mechanics Building. The vice-presidents elected are: Sir Arthur A. Haworth, Bart, of Manchester, England; the Rev. A. E. Garvie, D. D.; the Rev. William L. Walker of Scotland, the Rev. T. Lewis of Wales, Dr. Lamar C. Warner, Frank Kimball of Illinois, Doane Robinson of South Dakota, George W. Marston of Colorado, the Rev. Ernest Davies of New Zealand, the Rev. W. C. Wilkinson of South Africa and Dr. Robert A. Hume of India, the Rev. Richard J. Wells of the Congregational Union of England and Wales was elected secretary, the Rev. P. H. Ashfort of Australia assistant secretary.

INSPECTOR CAVAGNARO HONORED BY FRIENDS

Inspector Joseph Cavagnaro of headquarters, recently promoted from the rank of sergeant, was presented with a large horseshoe-shaped wreath of flowers by friends from the North and West Ends. The presentation was made at headquarters shortly before roll-call. The bouquet was made up with red and white pinks, yellow daisies and pink roses. A baby-blue silk ribbon with the word "Inspector" inscribed in gold was attached in the centre. Brother inspectors congratulated him in a body and Chief Inspector John R. McGarr volunteered the use of his automobile to convey the gift home.

CHELSEA DELAYS ACTION ON TEACHERS' SALARIES

About twenty-five teachers were present at a meeting held by the Chelsea school committee. They expected to hear something definite in regard to their petition for an increase in their salaries. The petition was referred to the salary committee after it was taken from the table where it was deposited on June 7. Action will be taken some time in August.

ARE YOUR DOLLARS WORKING?

Industry has been revolutionized by the great war. The world demands greater production and better quality products, and is willing to pay almost any price to procure them. There is no other country so fitted to fill the demands of trade as America—but we must have more and larger factories in order to increase the supply of finished products. To build factories requires capital, and as the banks are already doing all that they can for industry, we must go to the people for finance and pay a liberal price for it.

A HARVEST FOR INVESTORS

The World War, which worked so many other great changes, brought about an increase in the investor class from a few hundred thousands to several millions in number. People who never knew what thrift was are now fortunate owners of Liberty Bonds and other securities. They now have an opportunity of subscribing to a stock that may properly be described as of phenomenal promise. They can now buy it at a price that allows them to secure ten, twenty or thirty shares for a relatively small outlay, and they have the prospect of seeing their investment increased in value as other rubber stocks have done until it is worth many times the original investment.

ABOUT OUR GOOD FRIEND
Muench

Copyright, 1920, by The Ledger Syndicate.

MUENCH

VARIATIONS—Munch, Mench, Munchen, Munchweiler.

RACIAL ORIGIN—German.

SOURCE—Name of a city.

AMONG the most modern of hereditary surnames, or family names, are those of German Jews. Indeed, the custom of using family names was adopted by the Jews much later than by the general populace in virtually all the countries of Europe.

In Germany, as late as the reign of Napoleon Bonaparte, the Jews had no regular system of family nomenclature, individuals being known by such names as "Isaac, the son of Abraham," etc.

There was a very natural reason for this. Throughout the preceding centuries, in Germany as well as other lands, the Jews had been subject to more or less persecution, and had been an element apart in whatever communities in which they dwelt, and a very small element. Hence the need for a system of family names had never arisen.

But Napoleon felt it was necessary for purposes of official registry of inhabitants, and decreed that the Jews should adopt as family names the names of the places in which they resided.

Most persons who bear the name of Muench or its variations are Jewish, though the name is not necessarily Jewish. But all persons who bear it may trace their ancestry back to persons who lived in Munich, for the name is taken from that city. The explanation of the variation Munchweiler probably is that its original bearer was stopping in that city temporarily at the time of the decree, for the termination apparently comes from a German verb, meaning to tarry, or dwell, or hold residence.

Tomorrow—Bell.

Fighting a Cold

By Brice Belden, M. D.

CHILLING lowers bodily resistance, and lowering resistance [illegible] Pneumonia sometimes gets a foothold.

Only rarely the nerve system sets up a reaction against the cooling of the skin, and the blood is returned and caused to flow in the skin blood vessels of the skin [illegible] even greater quantities than [illegible]

But of the nervous system [illegible] be robbed by the presence of poisons formed from imperfectly eliminated bodily waste or from excessive or improper food which has undergone putrefaction. Then will be the time to attempt to eliminate the function of the human organism properly, and to neutralize [illegible] poisons. All must be aerated and [illegible] to the various structures. Congestion of the structures will remain connected and repeated congestions mean chronic colds and catarrhs.

PORTLAND SEES CIVIC PARADE

Thousands Witness Big Feature of Fourth Day of Centennial

Portland, Me., June 30.—Thousands of marching men, members of fraternal societies and other organizations of Portland, provided the big feature of "civic parade day," the fourth day of Maine's State centennial celebration in progress here. Throngs greater than have ever been gathered in the city before crowded the sidewalks along the route of the procession.

Major E. E. Philbrick, U. S. A., a veteran of the Philippines, Cuban and Mexico campaigns, was marshal, while Lieutenant Ralph C. Brooks, who served in the World War with the American forces overseas, acted as chief of staff.

The parade took the following route: From the principal business thoroughfares of the city, Middle to Franklin, to Cumberland avenue, to High, to Congress, to Brandhall Square.

REVIEWED BY GOVERNOR.

A spectacular feature followed, the line of march including on Congress street and passing in review at City Hall before Governor Milliken and Mayor Chase. Governor's staffs, prominent naval officials of the American and Allied war vessels at anchor in the harbor, and Portland's guests of honor, who included Mrs. George F. Higgs, the noted authoress, known to the American reading public as Kate Douglas Wiggin; Mme. Emma Eames de Gogorza, the grand opera star; Mrs. John J. Enneking, wife of Hyde Park, Mass., widow of the celebrated painter, and other distinguished residents and natives of the Pine Tree State.

The parade moved in the following formation.

JAPANESE CRUISER DELAYED.

A wireless message was received from the Japanese cruiser Kasuga, commanded by Captain H. Terasaka, stating that the vessel has been delayed in the Panama Canal, and instead of arriving as scheduled, will be delayed until the end of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Asad, of New Orleans, who arrived here to meet the ship on which Mrs. Asad's father is an officer, were informed by city officials of this delay. Asad is a prominent Japanese banker of Louisiana.

The City Hall auditorium was the scene of a big entertainment, smoker and dance for enlisted men by Dr. Morgan, municipal organist of Portland, on Portland's Skinner organ, the fourth largest instrument of its kind in the world, and the second largest in the United States. The recital preceded a series a vaudeville acts from local theatres, which were followed in turn by dancing till midnight.

A colorful pageant and fete, titled "The Spirit of Old Greece," was arranged at Lincoln Park by members of the local Y. W. C. A. Sixty-five Portland girls participated in the dances, Miss Alice Canon appearing as the Blue Triangle Girl, Miss Mina Bernstein as Commerce, and Miss Harriet Ohler as Industry. They performed the Grecian dance.

Other attractions of the day included a program of sports, National Red Cross demonstrations at Portland High School, and the Indian, army and Boy Scout encampments at Deering Oaks. Thousands visited the war vessels at the Grank Trunk docks.

BOYS' BAND A FEATURE.

Among the band features which took place in various parts of the city, perhaps the most interesting was that given by the Boys' Band of Lewiston. This organization, composed entirely of Lewiston boys, is here for the purpose of the celebration.

A brass band made up of Penobscot Indians is another musical feature of the centennial. This band is reputed to be one of the most highly trained musical bodies in Maine and will give a number of concerts.

The official reception at the Indian village in Deering Oaks Park were given a car ride through the city and suburbs. Attired in full festival regalia, the braves, squaws and papooses made a picture of brilliant colors as they passed through the streets and were shown the historic points of interest.

Centennial headquarters at the City Hall were crowded all day with visitors newly arrived in Portland and who had found the hotels already filled. The newcomers were provided with rooms in private dwellings, several of which had offered hospitality to strangers during Maine's big week.

The headquarters in charge of Fred H. Gabbi, assisted by a staff of Portland school teachers acting as volunteers.

Word was received from General Clarence R. Edwards, stating that he will be unable to attend during the centennial. Governor Hartley of New Hampshire has also received word that he will attend and Governor Holcomb of Connecticut has dispatched Colonel P. H. Ingalls as his representative.

Members of the Japanese embassy at Washington have arrived in Portland, and on July 6 a Japanese "at home" will be given to Governor Milliken and the other guests of honor on board the Japanese vessel Kasuga with the Japanese attaches from Washington and the officers of the ship acting as hosts.

Stocks Advance in Both Markets; Call Loans Renew at 9 Per Cent.; Trading Is More Active

PRICES RALLY IN BOSTON

Trend on the Local Exchange Reflects New York Strength; Curb Stays Quiet

The Boston market had an irregular opening, but when prices advanced in New York they improved here. The market became strong soon after the morning was over and gains exceeded losses two to one. But trading was quiet, although a little broader. Calumet & Hecla first sold at 306, a gain of four points, but it dropped to 300 on the next transaction. It soon got back to its opening figure. Shawmut Steamship gained a point and Mexican Investment receded a point on its first sale, but recovered it quickly.

Fractional gains were made by American Telephone, United Shoe, Ventura, East Boston, North Butte, Libby, Waldorf and Bigheart.

Among stocks to recede a point were Boston Elevated and Calumet & Arizona. Smaller losses were shown by U. S. Smelting, Eastern Manufacturing, Connor, Morse and Greenfield Tap.

On the ex-dividend list were Atlantic Gulf, Nova Scotia Steel common and preferred, Westinghouse common and preferred, Spicuing and Parish & Bingham.

DULL START FOR CURB.

The Curb opening was very quiet and the early movement was downward, although the list was soon mixed as to changes as usual. Active issues at the start were Arizona Silver and Boston & Montana. The former opened 10 points down, but soon recovered an initial loss. Weak issues included Black Hawk and Imperial.

At the end of an hour Arizona Silver was off 4 cents at 13 cents, its low for the year; Crystal 1 cent at 32 cents and Hecla 1 cent at 302, while Eureka was up 2 cents at 47 cents.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NOTES.

The decline of Calumet & Hecla stock to the lowest figure for which it has sold in quarter of a century reflects the slump in the prices of the copper market. Buying is light and the price of producing metal is the greatest ever known.

The Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston has declared its regular 8% quarterly dividend and a quarterly extra of 2%, both payable July 15.

The American Bosch Magneto Corporation now has stockholders' approval of a 20 per cent. stock dividend and a capitalization increase of 10,000 shares.

Vice President Andrew Carnegie F. Trips of the Westinghouse Interest will sail for Europe and visit England, France and Belgium.

The Cardinal Trade Extension Copper Company reports ore in sight of 8,124,000,00 net value. Output of 1912 its ore recently was 1,000 tons, estimated at 571,400 tons and were sold to average 12 per cent copper.

Massachusetts corporations report capitalization increases as follows: Hood Rubber Company from $500,000 to $1,000,000; Hood Rubber Company from $500,000 to $1,000,000; White & Bagley Company from $100,000 to $200,000; Cutler from $150,000 to $2,500,000; Stanley Rules Works Company from $500,000 to $1,000,000; Hollister, White & Co., from $200,000 to $800,000; Hollister Company from $600,000 to $825,000.

President Andrew W. Preston of the United Fruit Company celebrated his seventy-fourth birthday yesterday.

Daniel Willard, president, and several members of the Boston reserve district accompanied Secretary Baker and his staff on an inspection trip to Panama, where he will inspect the activities of national banks in almost every country.

Worcester, Mass., has sold to the First National Bank of Boston at 4.97 per cent. discount $250,000 Revenue Notes, dated June 30 and maturing November 17, 1920.

Cotton Market Opening

New York, June 30.—Cotton prices were lower in the case of most months when the market began business today. July sold off 57 to 58 points, unchanged to 10 points down, at 31.55 to 31.75, off 3 to 10 points; October at 31.15 to 31.17, off 12 to 14 points; December at 30.07 to 30.83, off 8 to 11; May, 29.92 to 29.93, off 10 to 11 points.

BIG GAINS BY CHEMICALS

Steels, Oils, Motors and Equipments All Move Upward; Rails Are Firm

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Prices advanced at the opening, and although early gains were not large they extended through the list. The buying was not by the public however. Sears are now seeking cover. It is said that the market has been completely sold out and that its technical character has made continuance on the short side an unsafe position. The statement by Jesse Livermore attracted country-wide attention. He said:

"If my experience of 28 years in Wall street is worth anything, it has taught me that stocks are now a purchase. I have now purchased stocks for a campaign of rising prices. I don't care what happens, stocks simply have to go up because they always do rise under such circumstances. There has been a drastic decline, loans are reduced to a minimum and nearly everything bad that one can imagine has come to pass. I think it would be folly to sell stocks now."

The advance continued for about half an hour before there was a halt, and a number of issues made good gains during the rise. Specialties were notably strong. Barrett went up nearly five points and National Aniline more than two. Mexican Petroleum was the strongest oil, Crucible made the best showing among steels, Baldwin led equipments and Studebaker the motors. Rails were firm and ruled a little higher. Delaware & Hudson gained almost a point during the first hour. At the end of that period the market was steady and above the opening level. Nothing new developed in regard to money. There is increased demand in some sections, particularly the Northwest and the South. Preparations for July disbursements have greatly reduced the floating supply of cash. But in banking circles an easier situation is expected in about a week, although there is no expectation of decided improvement.

Government Buying of Silver

Through recent purchases of silver by the United States Treasury Department under the Pittman act, which provides for the payment of $1 an ounce for American white metal, producers have found a market to date for nearly 4,000,000 ounces.

Canada's Mining Output

Canada's mineral output in 1919 was valued at $172,073,913, or $38,225,684 less than was obtained for 1918 production. The total was lower also than that for either 1917 or 1918. Gold production amounted to 767,167 ounces, silver to 16,475,134 ounces and copper to 78,124,653 pounds.

COSMOPOLITAN TRUST'S FOREIGN DEPARTMENT

The overseas business of the Cosmopolitan Trust Company has so expanded that it has had to enlarge its foreign department until it now occupies an entire floor of the bank's building at No. 40 Devonshire street, Boston. The space devoted to this branch has been tripled, and in addition to buying, selling and transmitting foreign currencies, transactions in foreign governments, German and Austrian municipal and foreign industrial bonds are also attended to. The bank has personal representatives in Poland, Italy, Greece, Germany, Russia and China. The Cosmopolitan Trust Company, in fact, does a world-wide business. Each division of the foreign department is directed by a man versed in the language, conditions, commercial and other customs of the country, whether in Europe or Asia, where his clients have business transactions to be looked after. Regarding the staff of this branch of the bank's service and which is supervised by Assistant Treasurer George P. Kinsman, it is said:

"The Italian division is in charge of Mr. Antonio Longarini, the Russian division under Mr. Michael Rabinkoff, Mr. K. Zdanowicz is in charge of the Polish division, Mr. Gleser of the Austrian and Hungarian divisions, Mr. Michajlowicz in charge of the Greek division, Mr. Yuen Lee of the Chinese division, Mr. Rudolf Bys of the foreign bonds, and Mr. Fred Brownell, Jr., in charge of letters of credit.

"Mr. Morris Goldberg is located at Warsaw, Poland, Mr. Emile Mouvrelli at Athens, Greece, Mr. Philip Weisenberg at Berlin, Germany, Mr. Luigi Valentino at Naples, Italy, Mr. Joseph Mitchell at Constanza, Roumania, Mr. Soon W. Q. Benson at Hong Kong, China.

"These men," it is said, "devote their entire time to Cosmopolitan Trust Company business — and are always at the service of the Foreign Department's clients. This eliminates much of the correspondence and red-tape that otherwise results when business is transacted through 'correspondents' or 'bankers' abroad."

Copper Quotations

The copper market was dull and steady yesterday, quotations being 18¾ to 18¾ cents a pound for July.

Buy Options On German Marks Good for Six Months
The fact that German money is selling at a small fraction of its normal value appeals to those who are not afraid of that purchases now offer a wonderful opportunity for profits. Exchange experts predict a sharp advance within the next few months.
10,000 Marks Can Be Controlled for $50.00
100,000 Marks Can Be Controlled for $400.00
Buying options limits your risk, as the original cost constitutes your entire liability. The cost of an option involves the use of about one-sixth as much money as would be required to buy marks outright. Should the market hold on option advance to only one-half of a normal gain, returns on investment would be over $700.00.
Send remittance, stating number of marks you wish to option at above figures. We urge prompt action, as exchange fluctuates rapidly.

Cummings' Address Most Conspicuous for What It Omits

Homer Cummings' address as temporary chairman of the Democratic National Convention Monday was a more effective speech than Senator Lodge's at Chicago, because he really had something to boast of when he summarized the work of Congress during the first Wilson Administration and the brilliant conduct of the war by the President, the Secretary of War, and the Secretary of the Navy, up to the day of the armistice.

But as to the policies of the Administration and the Democratic party since the armistice and as to the program of the future, Chairman Cummings' address was as weak, evasive and unsatisfactory as the Republican chairman's. Not a word on prohibition. Not a word about what the party would do with profiteers. Not a syllable about the railroads. The palsy of fear was on the chairman of the convention.

Upon one point of great importance, Mr. Wilson's ill-fated league covenant, the Democratic chairman's keynote address, by misstating the situation, indicates his party's doubt and uncertainty. Chairman Cummings said:

In every speech made during his tour the President stated entire willingness to accept any and all reservations not incompatible with America's honor and true interests. It is the plain intent of the covenant that the Monroe Doctrine is excluded; that domestic questions are exempted; that not one American can be sent out of the country without formal action by Congress, and that the right of withdrawal is absolute. If there are words which can make these meanings clearer they will be welcome. It is not reservations that the President stands against, but nullification.

The President has never in one of his many letters, addresses or interviews in the year that has elapsed since the Treaty of Versailles was signed, one year ago, expressed a willingness to accept any reservation whatever in the league covenant he signed.

On the contrary, he has repeatedly said that he would accept none of the reservations adopted by the Senate providing for the very things which Chairman Cummings now summarizes as desirable and necessary.

The largest concession that Mr. Wilson has ever made, either to the Senate or to the public opinion of the nation, unmistakably opposed to his league covenant, is that he would not object to a clarifying resolution if adopted by the Senate as a separate instrument, when it ratified the treaty, stating its understanding of the meaning of the treaty.

Everyone knows that such a clarifying resolution, if not made a part of the resolution giving the advice and consent of the Senate to the treaty, would be null and void in international law.

It would amount to the same thing as if a person on signing a lease remarked, after signing it, that he thought his landlord was charging too much rent.

England Will Pay--If She Can

How We Came to Lend the Money

Copyright, 1920, Star Company.

Lloyd George says he has never even heard "discussed" repudiation of England's debt to America. Good news for those intensely interested in payment of the English debt.

The average American, not particularly interested in repayment, asks only that the country keep what it has and be not led by European governments into any "what's yours is mine and what's mine is my own" arrangement.

Austin Chamberlain, at the head of British finances, to whom Lloyd George refers inquirers about England's debts, has predicted even national bankruptcy for England "if things go on as at present." And if national bankruptcy came, England would presumably not make a preferred creditor of the United States. She will pay if she can. If she can't, she cannot. In any case, she will pay at her own convenience.

She is postponing payment of interest to us, and no one objects particularly to that.

Some of the smaller Powers will never pay. If the Poles are eaten by Russia, they won't pay—first, because they won't have the money, and, second, Russia won't let them.

We must expect to pay for war enthusiasm. You know what the enthusiasm was that caused this Government to lend so many billions to Europe so very rapidly. The money was lent in the time of patriotism, at the instigation of profiteers who put most of the money in their pockets.

The billions that we lent to European countries, with few exceptions, did not cross the ocean. They stayed here in the pockets of men profiteering at the expense of European nations.

If the nations had not borrowed from Uncle Sam they would have been able to pay their bills in the United States, and the profiteering would have been less gay than it was for the profiteers.

For instance, when we lent money to Russia, we really sent money to Wall Street to buy up bad notes that the Russian government had given to our profiteers.

Old Uncle Sam with his "loans to foreign governments" was only to make appropriations to enable this Government to take the bad debts owing to American profiteers.

We are in no position to be bitter about those foreign loans. The English are no welchers. If they can pay, they will pay. The only important thing is that we should stop now, save the resources of the United States for the United States, and not let them out to help United States schemers to profiteer on Europe.

Another important thing is that we should not allow the cities of Europe, her willingness to pay high rates of interest doubtful security, to raise the interest rate in this country so business men cannot [illegible]

National Federation of Post Office Clerks

AFFILIATED WITH THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR

Local No. 186, Boston, Mass.

June 26, 1920.

To the Editor,
The Boston American,
Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir:

At the monthly meeting, held at Boston, June 25th, of the Joint Postal Organizations of Boston, Mass., representing 4800 postal employees of Greater Boston, a resolution of thanks and appreciation was unanimously voted the Boston American for its powerful support and assistance in the campaign for better working conditions and increased salaries for postal employees.

Although the increase granted was very unsatisfactory, (maximum grade increased about $108, compulsory pension deducted $45, yearly), nevertheless we are grateful to our friends for their efforts. Denying ourselves the right to strike, we look to the Press and the Public to champion our cause.

The campaign which you conducted, with its daily cartoon, its daily editorial and your liberal news space, together with your sending of circulars to the 3300 post offices of the Eastern States, your posters on your delivery wagons, your 320 billboard advertisements in Metropolitan Boston, and best of all, your detailing two reporters to direct the campaign, made a very favorable impression on the employees, and without a doubt was a powerful factor in arousing the Public to the dire needs of the employees.

While we feel we lost the battle for an adequate wage, nevertheless we are comforted by the thought that in our campaign we gained many new friends who will be only too glad to assist us when we again make the fight for improved service conditions and adequate salaries.

Again thanking you for your kindness, and assuring you we appreciate it personally, we are,

Cordially yours,

Charles L. Hammond, Chairman.

GARRETT P. SERVISS' ARTICLE

By Garrett P. Serviss

"Please answer the following questions: 1. Why does an object at a distance appear smaller? 2. Are the electrons which are said to compose chemical atoms all the same size? 3. Just what is meant by the statement that white light is a combination of many wave lengths in the ether?—H. E. W."

OBJECTS at a distance appear of less angular magnitude than when near because our eyes are so constructed that the rays of light are bent from all sides inward toward a nodal point.

This effect is due to the convexity of the lens of the eye, which brings the rays to a point at which they cross and diverge in both directions. The consequence, as you can plainly see by drawing a diagram, is that the lines of sight starting from the small image of the object made by the eye lens on the retina and passing through the nodal point must continually diverge as they approach the real object, the divergence becoming greater with increased distance.

To test this, suppose you have a circular disk placed ten feet from your eye and, by measurement, you find that the lines of sight to diametrically opposite points on the edge of the disk diverge just twenty degrees. That means that the angular diameter of the disk, seen from a distance of ten feet, is twenty degrees.

Lines Diverge.

Then move the disk to a distance of twenty feet, and you will find that the lines now diverge only ten degrees, or the angular diameter of the disk has become only half what it was before, and since the areas of circles are proportional to the squares of their diameters the disk at twenty feet distance looks only one-quarter as large as it did at ten feet distance.

This explains why a circle one-quarter-inch in diameter, held about 27½ inches from the eye, looks of same size as the moon, which is 2,160 miles in diameter and 238,800 miles away; or why your forefinger held erect near the eye is as tall as the Woolworth tower seen from New York City Hall steps. But it is not in the essential nature of things that the rays of light should converge in the eye, and the lines of sight correspondingly diverge. It is so because, in fact, the eyes are thus constructed, but we may suppose them to have been constructed without lenses, the rays of light touching the retina in parallel instead of converging or diverging lines.

In that case the apparent size of an object would not vary with its distance, and a pin's head as far away as the moon would subtend the same angular diameter as when it was twelve inches from the eye. On the other hand we could not, with such eyes, see at once the whole of any object whose angular diameter exceeded that of the pupil of the eye. We should see nothing around us except little circular patches of varying color and brightness, which we should have to join up mentally in order to understand the form and nature of the world and the universe. Our eyes would furnish no basis for judging distance.

It is believed that electrons are all alike, and all of the same size, without regard to the varying size and character of the atoms which are constructed of them. In like manner a great variety of buildings may be constructed of similar bricks differently piled together.

The diameter of an electron has been experimentally determined as about one-twenty-five-trillionth of an inch. Now, the diameter of the earth is about 500,000,000 inches, whence we find that it would take as many electrons laid in a row to make an inch as it would take particles one-50,000th of an inch in thickness to equal the diameter of the earth!

White Light

The statement that white light is a combination of waves of different lengths simply means that the agitation of the ether caused by a luminous body like the sun consists of a great variety of vibrations which, although they vary in wave length, are conveyed through the ether with the same speed of translation so that those which start together ordinarily arrive at our eyes together and combine their various effects upon the retinal nerves, so that they are blended into a single effect, which is the sensation that we call "white light."

It is possible for us to separate the waves of different length by means, for instance, of a prism of glass, and then we find that, thus separated, each different wavelength corresponds to a color effect of its own. Why when all these effects are united the result is the sensation of whiteness is a fact of nature behind which we are unable to go.

White light is analyzed not only by a prism, but in a different manner by every "colored" object on which it falls. Owing to some peculiarity of the surfaces of such objects, arising from their molecular structure, they absorb some of the incident waves and reflect others, and the colors exhibited by the objects are those pertaining to the reflected waves.

Park Your Troubles Outside

By S. E. KISER

IT'S hard to like complaining men
Who think the world has used them ill;
Why must they air their troubles when
Good sense would cause them to keep still?
The man who is inclined to moan
Should do it somewhere all alone.

WHY will men come to boast how much
They have or are about to win?
There ought to be deep holes where such Confounded asses might crawl in;
Their boasts about the luck they've had
Are sure to fail to make us glad.

THE men who come to hint or say
That we have faults we ought to cure
May wish to do good turns, but they
Are never easy to endure;
Why won't they learn that their advice
Is far from being worth the price?

THE men who come to talk about
Things that were said by Gray or Green
Would please us more if they'd stay out,
And leave us hopeful and serene;
The truth is, they deserve the axe
Who tell what's said behind our backs.

IT'S fine to hear the ones who let Us know how good they think we are;
They never cause us to regret
That we have left the door ajar;
We may suspect it's mere pretense,
But still we like their keen good sense.

Letters to the Editor

No Split

Editor Boston American:

The bigoted, arrant pro-English toadies are now trying to make it appear that at last a split has come in the Irish movement and that the money derived from the Irish bond sale has been needlessly squandered by a certain faction in the Irish movement. These statements and impressions, which are being spread broadcast throughout the United States by servile agents of the English government, are nothing but downright lies, pure and simple.

There is no split whatsoever among those directing the movement in this country. This so-called split is nothing more nor less than a difference of opinion as to the best method of procedure in obtaining the desired end—namely, complete and unconditional independence for Erin. But, as usual, the same old cry, "a Kilkenny cat fight," is raised, if the Irish differ among themselves on any question whatsoever. Some people fail to realize that without a difference of opinion there would be no progress. However, as an American citizen, I would much rather see an occasional dissonance among the Irish element than to have it boss-ridden to such a degree that a man could not express his views on a point in question, as was the case in the Republican convention in Chicago, held recently.

Against the Husband

No wife has yet been found, and we have almost despaired of the quest, who will admit that "Why Men Dislike Their Wives," appearing in a recent widely read magazine, is 100 per cent. true. But some concede as much as 90 per cent. of truth, which is remarkably high for a magazine article. One wrote to the editor asking why it wouldn't be a good idea to run something on "Why Wives Despise Their Husbands." Of course, no self-respecting married editor could go as far as that, but in Hearst's for July there is a compromise in the article, "The Case Against the Husband."

TO THE proprietor.
OF THE barber shop.
HOTEL NASSAU.
LONG BEACH.
DEAR PROPRIETOR.
LAST WEEK.
I WAS at the beach.
AND IN the morning.
I HADN'T shaved.
AND I looked around.
FOR A barber shop.
AND FOUND yours.
AND WAS shaved.
BY A middle-aged gentleman.
AND WHEN he was through
HE SAID to me.
"WILL YOU have some cold cream?"
AND I said I would.
"AND SOME witch hazel?"
AND I said I would.
"AND A hot towel?"
AND I said I would.
AND I got them.
AND HE was through.
AND I got up.
AND GAVE him a dollar.
AND HE rang the register.
FOR SIXTY cents.
AND I said.
"AREN'T YOU mistaken?"
AND HE said.
"THIRTY FOR the shave.
"TEN FOR the cold cream.
"TEN FOR the witch hazel.
"TEN FOR the hot towel.
"MAKES SIXTY cents."
AND I agreed.
AND GAVE him a tip.
OF FIFTEEN cents.
AND GAVE the brush boy.
FIFTEEN CENTS.
AND THE extra dime.
I SAID to the barber.
"IF YOU'LL please give it.
"TO THE proprietor."
AND I'VE been wondering.
IF YOU got it.
BECAUSE I feel.
THAT IF you knew.
I HAD an extra dime.
AND YOU didn't get it.
YOU MIGHT be sore.
AT YOUR barber.

I THANK you.
